

Outbound Connectors deliver data wherever you need it.

Crisp's open-data platform facilitates the flow of retail data into your existing infrastructure, so you can focus on what you do best. Outbound Connectors consolidate real-time data from across retailer and distributor portals and pipe it into the tools and data warehouses you rely on most.

No more downloading reports:

Crisp automatically ingests data in real time from retail, distributor, and syndicated data portals including Walmart, Whole Foods, Amazon, UNFI, NielsenIQ, and more.

Data that's ready to use:

Crisp combines and consolidates your retail data into a consistent, ready-to-use format. You can take it from there.

Do more with retail data:

With data piped into your BI software, cloud-based tools or on-premise data warehouse, you can further augment your data, combine it with third-party market or demographic data sets, and drill down to uncover meaningful insights.

Pick and choose your data sets:

A host of reports from all of your retail partners are available within your favorite tools, including data sets beyond what is available in Crisp's online dashboards.
